

Further information along this line is properly within the sphere of the various manufacturers.

My intention has been to make this a practical hand-book for the busy physician who wishes to use high frequency currents and to learn how to do so with as little "red tape" as possible.

I have expressed my individual opinion on many points, and sometimes this may be found at variance with that of other authors, but it is based upon eighteen years' practical experience involving the daily use of High Frequency Currents and upon sixteen years' experience in teaching the subject.

My indebtedness for data furnished is acknowledged to Drs. W. B. Snow, W. H. King, H. E. Waite, F. de Krafft, R. A. Black, E. C. Titus, H. F. Pitcher, S. Stevens, R. E. Farmer, and Messrs. F. H.
